Congress to Exempt Boys Under 21 Conflict Rages On All Fronts; Reds Sweep On

To Be Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—
President Roosevelt today urged Congress to enact a draft extension law which will call for possible active service of all men between 19 and 44 inclusive.

The chief executive made the request in a letter to Chairman Reynolds (D) N. C., of the Senate Military Affairs Committee
after the House Committee had approved a bill exempting those under 21 from active duty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—The powerful military committees of House and Senate today sped action on a bill, drafting 5,000,000 more men but exempting from active service youths under 21, as leaders predicted final passage of the measure this week.

The House committee approved a bill calling for registration of all males between 18 and 64, but limiting service to those from 21 to 44 and prepared to ask a House vote tomorrow. As the Senate group took up the measure today, its members forecast approval of a similar version.

The predictions came as Congress—warned by leaders not to expect more than a one-day vacation for Christmas—pressed on with an all-out legislative program designed to facilitate the war effort. In addition to the draft bill, speedy action was slated on the following:

JAIL LOOMS FOR WOMAN DEFYING AMERICAN FLAG

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 16—A term of "not more than one year" in the Kansas penitentiary was faced today by Mrs. Lucille Myer, of Topeka, for not permitting her sons to salute the American flag in school.

Her sons, Clinton and John, were named wards of the juvenile court by Judge Roy N. McCue.
Declaring Mrs. Myer was guilty of contributing to her sons' delinquency, Judge McCue stated:
"The government cannot dictate to its citizens how they shall worship, but it is an equally well established principle that no religion shall interfere with the process of government."

Mrs. Myer, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, posted $10 bond and indicated she would appeal to the district court.

Here Are U. S. Warships Sunk in Pearl Harbor Attack

NATION PLEASED BY NAVAL VALOR

Story Of Heroism Heard;
President To Name
Inquiry Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—While every American citizen thrilled with pride over the first official report of American heroism in the tragic battle of Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt today was selecting a board of inquiry to determine finally whether the Japanese invaders caught the U. S. Pacific command napping in Hawaii on the "bloody Sunday" of December 7.

The commander-in-chief will convene an investigating board before the day ends to determine all facts in the informal charge of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox that "the United States services were not on the alert against the surprise air (and submarine) attack on Hawaii."

There was a possibility that a full probing of the facts might cause some heads to roll in the various branches of the armed services.

Even this realization, however, failed to diminish nationwide satisfaction over the dramatic account of American valor during those first frightful hours of the war, and the official assurance that rumor-factory reports of U. S. Naval losses had been grossly exaggerated.

Alert on other potential fronts, all of official and military Washington took due note of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's latest appeal to the Vichy government, pondering whether it might be reminiscent of the last-minute peace proposal President Roosevelt made to the "son of Heaven" in Tokyo.

There was no attempt to conceal the concern of the Washington government over a growing

JEALOUSY CITED AS MOTIVE FOR MAN'S SHOOTING

ELYRIA, Dec. 16—Seeking to prove that Mrs. Julia Blair, 41, of Lorain, shot and killed her 32-year-old husband, Leo, because she was jealous of his attentions to other women although they were divorced, the state today continued its first-degree murder case against Mrs. Blair.

The defense will contend that Mrs. Blair fired in self defense when her husband became intoxicated.

Police Inspector John Meister of Lorain testified that Mrs. Blair once told him, "I'm going to have to kill that boy."

Mrs. Leona Blair, the victim's mother, told the jury she went out to call the couple to supper and that the defendant whipped a revolver from her dress and began shooting, screaming as she did,
"I'll kill him."

SECRETARY of the Navy Frank Knox, after returning from his inspection flight to Hawaii, revealed that the losses sustained by the U. S. Pacific fleet during the Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor were three 1,500-ton destroyers (1) Downes (2) Cassin and (3) Shaw, all completed in 1937. The 32,600-ton battleship (4) Arizona and (5) the 19,800-ton target ship Utah. The Knox statement gave direct lie to Japanese statements that an aircraft carrier and other big warships had been sunk and that only "remnants" of the U. S. Pacific Fleet remained intact.

WHEELER FAVORS REMOVAL OF KNOX

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—While Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., urged that Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox be ousted, Congress today generally appeared willing to await results of a presidential investigation of the Pearl Harbor upset before taking action of its own.

Members viewed the statement of Knox on American losses in the Japanese surprise attack on the "Gibraltar of the Pacific" with mixed feelings. While the navy chief was praised by some for making a frank report, and relief was voiced that losses were not as bad as rumored, others expressed deep indignation over his statement that neither the Army nor Navy was on the alert.

Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, and Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs group, scheduled a conference with Knox to decide if Congress should take any action.

"I am glad that the secretary of the navy says an investigation will be made," said Wheeler. "It would seem to me that what we need is a new secretary of the navy."

MAN ARRESTED IMPERSONATING U. S. OFFICERS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16—Said by police to be wearing the uniform of a United States Army officer when arrested, a man giving his name as Ernest Frohlich De Meyer, 27, was in custody of federal agents today.

He was booked on charges of impersonating an army officer and suspicion of espionage.

Police claimed they raided his Hollywood apartment and found a complete wardrobe of U. S. Marine, Navy and Army uniforms, a short wave broadcasting set and what appeared to be data on coast defense. In a file of papers the officers said they found 200 letters, most of them containing heavily underscored sentences.

De Meyer, police said, operated an automobile paint shop.

They said that when he was stopped on a minor traffic charge in a coastal defense area, he attempted to take off his army blouse and put on a civilian coat.

the broadcaster said. "But the German radio seldom closes down in the middle of the day."

said she believed it was caused by someone smoking in bed.

in their rooms, or prevented by feebleness from fleeing the quickly spreading flames.

CHARGE OF PROVIDING INTOXICANTS TO MINOR GIRLS BEING PREPARED

Mrs. Clara Friley Fuller, 118
East Main Street, will go before

7 p. m., charged with selling

16, and Miss Pauline Huston, 17, both of Laureville, following an episode at Mrs. Fuller's establishment Sunday night.

Miss Violet Schooley Rose, 21, Adelphi, was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Cady, Monday, on charges of assault and battery filed against her by Miss VanFossen,

SOLONS CALLING FOR ASSISTANCE ON TWO ISLES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—Calls for aid for the gallant garrisons at the tiny Pacific Islands of Wake and Midway, where Japanese attacks are being resisted to the death, were sounded in Congress today.

"My first thought is what can be done to relieve those gallant boys at Wake and Midway," said Sen. Lee (D) Okla. "I think too of recovering Guam and holding the Philippines."

Sen. Connally (D) Tex., voiced the same sentiment.
"Thank God for Wake and Midway," he exclaimed. "They have been on the alert. Their defenders have shown high courage and loyal patriotism. I hope they can be reinforced."

"I certainly hope that relief can be sent to Wake and Midway," said Sen. Pepper (D) Fla. "I understand that it might not be possible to relieve them."

"But I ardently hope that something can be done for those gallant marines and workmen who are resisting the treacherous Japanese attack."

American Bombers Destroying Fields

GERMANS FACING ANNIHILATION

Russians Regain Control Of Railroad Between Leningrad And Moscow;
Pacific Fleet Hunting Foe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—A War Department communique today revealed that four Japanese fighting planes have been shot down over the Philippines and that American Army bombers have renewed attacks on Japanese vessels, seriously damaging one enemy transport.

War raged with ever-growing ferocity on spreading Far Eastern battle fronts today, while in Russia the vaunted
Nazi legions were suffering a colossal debacle.

Developments came thick and fast in the Far Eastern theatre. In the Philippines, United States Army airmen repelled a new Jap attack on the big Olongapo Navy yard and concentrated on destruction of northern bases from which Japanese bombers have been launching raids on targets around Manila.

The bulk of America's Pacific fleet knifed through tropical waters on a grim, relentless hunt for Japanese warships—proof that the sordid Japanese sneak raid on Pearl Harbor failed to destroy America's Pacific armada.

From the Eastern Front came more sensational news of the great rout of the Nazis who are under the lash of charging Red army forces and the frigid Russian winter.

The Russians were declared to have reopened the Moscow-Leningrad railway by recapturing the junction towns of Klin and Volkhov.

Tremendous German losses were reported by the Soviets, including 13,000 Germans killed and wounded and great quantities of booty captured in the battle for Klin alone.

Another 8,000 Germans were said to have been killed and wounded in a week's fighting around Kalinin.

Stockholm advices to London said no less than a million and a half Germans are in full retreat in a desperate effort to escape disaster. But the Nazis were losing a heavy toll as the Russians rolled forward from the Baltic to the Sea of Azov.

"The German military spokesman in his apology hour has been giving foreign war correspondents more excuses and explanations" regarding the Nazi retreat in Russia, the British radio said today in a broadcast heard by NBC.

Initiative Retained?
According to the British broadcast the German spokesman claimed the Germans "were retreating but retained the initiative."

The BBC quoted Mario Appellus, an Italian correspondent and radio commentator, as saying:
"The German general staff retains full control of its nerves and its reason. German organization is tackling the Russian winter.
Therefore, all is well."

In the Philippines, where Japanese invaders were successfully pocketed in small coastal areas, American bombers and fighting planes strafed and hammered improvised air fields from which Japanese raiders have been operating.

With Japanese landing parties and paratroopers successfully pocketed up in small coastal areas at Vigan, Aparri, Legaspi, bombers and fighting planes continually strafed the improvised fields at Vigan and Aparri, from which many of the Jap planes have been operating.

U. S. and Filipino troops, fighting side by side, were slowly pushing the invaders seaward from their narrow footholds in the far north and south of Luzon. While military spokesmen merely said that there was nothing new to report, it was believed the Jap invaders at the three scattered points had a good chance of sharing the fate of their comrades who

To Add To Power

2 Two bills to strengthen America's vital sea power—one to add 150,000 tons of combat ships to the fleets which has committee approval and is ready for House action, and another authorizing expenditure of $310,000,000 to build designated naval bases which the Senate has approved.

3. A measure calling for expenditure of $100,000,000 to buy gas masks, fire fighting material, and other air raid protection equipment for American cities, which has Senate committee approval and is ready for action on the floor.

4. The house-approved price control bill which the Senate banking committee is working to tighten up in order to check inflation in the war time economy.

Meanwhile, the first war appropriations bill — $10,000,000,000 measure carrying funds for vast expansion of the Army and Navy air forces and for tanks and other critical Army ordnance items—was on the President's desk awaiting his signature after rapid passage through Congress.

Leaders said that declarations of war against Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary — Hitler satellites which have declared war on this country—are unlikely after Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared the action of these nations was too contemptible to be worthy of comment. The leaders, however, told members to stand by constantly, and warned that Congress probably will be in session all next week, getting only a single day's vacation to observe Christmas.

In its action the House Military Affairs Committee whittled the potential Army this country will have immediately available under the draft from 7,800,000 to 5,000,000 men by providing that no one under 21 shall be compelled to serve against his will.

The Army had asked not only for the registration of the 40,000, 64, but had requested permission to call for active duty all those between 19 and 44, inclusive.

The committee, however, accepted "virtually unanimously" an amendment banning from involuntary service all those under 21 on the grounds that during the World War this country raised an army of 4,500,000 without resorting to "drafting babies."

KROGER PLANT STRIKE SETTLEMENT DISCLOSED

Settlement of a Kroger packing house strike in Columbus was affected Tuesday and employees started to return to their jobs. Three hundred and eighty unionists were out with a salary increase and closed shop as basis for the dispute. Many persons who live in northern Pickaway County are employed there. Terms of settlement were not announced.

WPA MEN IDLE

Approximately 210 WPA workers were idle Tuesday, awaiting the opening of their new work period on Wednesday. The workers, who have been employed on county road work in Madison Township, completed their allotted number of hours of work one day early this month so that they may receive their pay checks before Christmas, officials said.

SIX CANADIAN AVIATORS DROWN IN PLANE FALL

NANAIMO, B. C., Dec. 16—Six Royal Canadian air force airmen lost their lives when a plane from the Patricia Bay base near Victoria made a forced landing on Nanaimo Bay, near Nanaimo, and sank before several small boats could reach the scene, the Canadian western command announced today.

Waters of the bay were being dragged for the victims of the crash. Pending notification of the next of kin the names of the six victims were not revealed.

were annihilated in trying to land at Lingayen.

Many Boats Sunk

Eye-witness accounts of the fierce combat at Lingayen, key to the interior plain of Luzon and gateway to Manila, revealed that hundreds of Jap troops were sunk in motorboats offshore while hundreds of others fell in hand-to-hand fighting on the beach.

U. S. naval units were giving the shore defenders full support at the three invasion points, where four troop-jammed Jap transports have already been sunk and five badly damaged.

At Washington Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox announced that when the Japanese staged their attack on Pearl Harbor the American Army and Navy lost men, ships and planes. But he declared the Japs had failed to deliver the knockout blow they thought their sneak raid would achieve.

He put naval losses at 2,729 officers and men killed and 656 wounded; one battleship (the Arizona), three destroyers, a target ship and a mine-layer sunk.

Reports from Singapore said heavy fighting was raging in northern Malaya, where the British conceded Japanese advances, and at Hong Kong, where British defenders fought back valiantly against massive Nipponese air and artillery barrages.

Fight For Island

(Editor's Note: Advice from Hong Kong to London said the Crown Colony's defenders have withdrawn their outposts from Kowloon and will fight a defensive battle from Hong Kong island proper.)

(At Canberra it was reported the Australian government was making representations to Britain for cooperative action and immense strengthening of the British air power in Malaya and the Far East. Plans also were reported under way for a large expansion in Australian aircraft production.)

British authorities acknowledged Japanese advances in the Kedah sector of northwest Malaya and loss of Point Victoria, midway link in air communications between Singapore and Burma.

The Japanese Diet (Parliament) opened a special session to rush through special war measures. Premier Hideki Tojo made this sweeping threat: "Japan will not sheath her sword until the United States and the British Empire are subdued."

From Chungking, China, came a military announcement stating that Chinese attacks have been increased to aid the defenders of Hong Kong and that Chinese forces are harassing the Japanese near Canton along the railway leading to the British Crown Colony.

A war bulletin said: "Chinese forces intensified their attacks on the Japanese flank, harassing the enemy's movements in the vicinity of Canton along the railway leading to Hong Kong."

"The Chinese also attacked the Japanese at Hangchow Bay and recaptured a number of strategic points. "The attack is extending to the district of Shanghai."

possibility that the subjugated French regime in Vichy under Pétain and Darlan finally would capitulate to Hitler's pressure and turn the French fleet over to the axis to war on the allies.

For the sake of the historic record, Hull told a press conference: "I firmly believe that they (the French people) will know how, as they have in the past, to meet their responsibilities in this present situation."

Since receiving Knox's firsthand report from the Pacific war front, President Roosevelt drew even more clearly the pattern of war into which the United States is projecting every ounce of its manpower, industrial capacity and financial resources.

The President again nominated Adolf Hitler as the unconscionable mastermind behind axis efforts at world domination. The Mikado and his militaristically-minded Japanese subjects were relegated to satellite roles along with Mussolini and the hard-pressed Italians under the Nazi heel.

Headlining a celebration of the 150th anniversary of the promulgation of the Bill of Rights—arranged before World War II blossomed into all its deadly fury—Mr. Roosevelt sharply contrasted Hitler's philosophy wherein "Der Fuehrer" would supplant God and democratic government with his own single-handed rule of all the world.

Speaking solemnly of those liberties for which an aroused 130,000,000 Americans are now fighting, the President said:

"We are solemnly determined that no power or combination of powers of this earth shall shake our hold on them."

BUSINESS FORECAST

AN ANNUAL event in business prophecy is the forecast of Gen. Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Trust Company. Here are the highlights for next year as he sees them.

The battles now raging in the world, he says, will determine who is going to control business in the future and how it is going to be done. World economy will be operated either by armed force or by the peaceable cooperation of free nations. "All our economic strength is now directed to opposing the domination of armed force and toward fostering peaceful cooperation among free nations." Both economic freedom and political freedom are at stake throughout the world.

War production will grow greater and greater next year, and other business smaller and smaller. Metal shortages will become worse.

We shall have a new and different kind of prosperity because most of the things we usually buy in prosperous times will not be available. Industrial workers will get high wages but the wages won't go as far as usual. "Prices will rise as dollars are bid for goods."

The future will be shaped by the outcome of the wars now under way and those growing out of them. Business future depends on the decisions of battles. Important changes will come from making far more munitions and less consumers' goods. Farmers will have higher prices but shortages of farm implements and fertilizers. The stock market may end its decline and may even rise somewhat.

He warns corporation managers to be careful about anticipating tax payments and maintaining equipment, retaining as much normal business as they can, developing new products for peace-time production, and reducing debt as much as possible. The return to normal business after the emergency will probably be a long and difficult process and there will be great advantages in "a strong cash position."

Most of these observations should be useful to individuals as well as corporations.

WAR UNITY

IAST time we joined the war for freedom as an independent volunteer. We won it, then we quit cold and came home and let the peace take care of itself. This time we know better and shall probably be more practical and far-sighted.

We are not fighting a separate war. And if we are wise, and loyal to our allies and ourselves, we shall not make a separ-

PRESIDENT PLANS CENSORSHIP

WASHINGTON—Behind the scenes, Roosevelt already has taken steps for a wartime censor with sweeping powers to dictate what war news shall be published or not published in the newspapers.

Already has appointed a committee of three—Vice President Wallace, Postmaster General Walker and Attorney General Biddle to recommend a censor and draw up legislation giving authority to censor the press.

Actually, the censor won't be called by that name. His official title will be Director of Public Information. But his function will be to supervise all reports of military operations and other information deemed of military significance.

At present, official reports on military events are issued in the form of communiqués by the War and Navy Departments and by the commanding officers of units and areas. The White House also gives out frequent announcements, and the various defense agencies do likewise.

There is no one central supervisory and distributing agency, as the British have in their Ministry of Information. As originally proposed, the Office of the Coordinator of Information, headed by able Colonel William Donovan, was to do this job. But the Army and Navy, jealous of their bureaucratic powers, objected so vehemently that the plan was dropped, and Donovan was given the task of waging the short wave counter-propaganda war against the Axis. In this work his organization has been extremely effective.

The three-man cabinet committee asked by the President to select a censor has under consideration the following: Harold Ickes, hard-boiled Secretary of the Interior; Colonel Donovan; Archibald MacLeish, Librarian of Congress and director of the recently created Office of Figures and Facts; and Ulric Bell, star correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

SENATE RESOLUTION

First thing the President did when he retired to Speaker Rayburn's office, following his historic message asking Congress to declare war on Japan, was to ask for a drink of water.

A pitcher of ice water had been placed on the stand of the House "well" from which he delivered the message, but in the gripping excitement of the occasion the President overlooked it.

Second thing the President did was to relieve the tension with a wisecrack at the expense of the Senate committee which escorted him to and from the House chamber. The group consisted of Democratic Leader Alben Barkley of Kentucky, Republican Leader Charles McNary of Oregon, and spry, 83-year-old Carter Glass of Virginia.

Having escorted the President out of the House chamber, they fidgeted to re-ate peace. For effectiveness there must be complete unity from beginning to end.

One of our most important tasks from now on will be to see to it that no enemies of freedom, abroad or at home, are allowed to endanger this unity.

Plan New Style Concentrated Rations

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● I felt the other day when I read in a magazine about the concentrated rations that the soldiers are going to get, as if time had turned backward and I was a boy again at

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

the time of the Spanish-American War.

I remember a small detachment of what we call "Pride's Own Regiment," being detailed to go out in a vacant lot near my home in 1898 and being made to live on concentrated rations of food for two weeks. The vacant lot was surrounded by guards so nobody could escape.

It is very desirable for the army to have a concentrated ration. The big trouble with an army is that it has to eat, and this requires cumbersome apparatus and long lines of communication. If you could give a soldier something about the size of a cigarette package which would contain enough concentrated food to last him for a week, you could send him forward without waiting for the wagon trains and be able to win a great many more battles.

Not Satisfying

It sounds very simple. Sugar is good nourishment that you can put in small compass and you ought to be able to do that with all food elements. The trouble heretofore has been that the concentrated food just doesn't seem to do the business.

In the Spanish-American war days it might have been the lack of vitamins, but nowadays we can get vitamins in pill form so that shouldn't be a difficulty. But the complaints I heard during the Spanish-American War had nothing to do with vitamins. It was what might be called the element of fillingness that the soldiers deplored.

When I say they deplored it, I mean they really DEplored it! Such command as I have over the cuss words in the English language was learned from the remarks of those soldiers in that vacant lot behind my home engaged in deploring their concentrated rations.

Modern Developments

I doubt if matters will be much improved with modern developments either. I have heard rumors to the effect that the morale of the present army is not quite as high as the officers would like to have it. I doubt if the morale will be improved by the following breakfast:

Pemmican biscuits, graham crackers, malted-milk tablets, canned veal loaf, soluble coffee and sugar stick of gum, and water.

When the long shadows of the evening stretch across the camp fires and the boys sit down to the following dinner: Pemmican biscuits, graham crackers, canned pork-beef sausage, fudge candy, lemonade powder and sugar, stick of gum and water, I doubt if the old songs will ring across the wilderness the way they did when we had bully beef and all the trimmings that go with it.

P.S. I tried to get some of this concentrated ration in order to try it myself before advising my readers about it, but the Quartermaster of the Chicago Depot tells me that a strike at the can company will delay procurement of this ration for several months.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

"YOU'RE to get a gown by Patricia Potelli!" said Roy to Susan over the phone.

"Who's she?"

"You met her last night at the broadcast. She was in the audience, and came back to speak to you."

"Oh! I remember now."

"She telephoned Dainty Diana Dairies this morning," Roy went on, "and says she wants to have you wear an evening gown she thought up after she got home last night. You inspired her, so it seems, to create something that's a mixture of Park avenue debutante and farmer lass."

"Goodness me! It sounds sort of mixed up."

"I know, but if Potelli designed it, it's bound to be a knockout. She's promised to have it ready for the opening of a new play tomorrow evening. You're to wear it to the play, and then to a night club afterward."

"When do I have to go for a fitting?" Susan asked. "I do have to go, don't I?"

"Right away," said Roy. "We'll go there before we go over to Fifty-ninth street for the milking episode."

"Will Irene Carter call for me?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Irene's swamped with work at the office," said Roy. "No need telling Susan that Irene had flatly refused to go with Susan for the fitting—that she had told him she was fed up, and that the farmer lass was all washed up so far as she was concerned. 'I'm going over to Potelli's with you,' he added. 'I'll be around in half an hour.'"

"All right," Susan said. "I'll be ready."

Suddenly she had a wild desire to step out and be terribly, terribly gay—to show Aunt Alice and Fred that other people didn't experience red faces because of her, that she still was looked upon as a human being, capable of thinking and breathing and acting like a normal human being. "Was my face red?" The idea!

And she was ready when Roy Leonard came for her. She was not only ready, but she was also radiant. She had worked herself up into a fever of excitement, back of which, she had to admit, was just plain, good old-fashioned anger.

"First," she told Roy, "I want to send this $5,000 check to my aunt, so that she can deposit it for me."

"Okay," said Roy. "There's a post office just around the corner. You can endorse it, and then have it registered."

"Come on!" said Susan. "Let's get all this money off my hands, and then go see Miss Potelli!"

Roy looked at her admiringly.

"For a person who's had upsetting news from home," he said, and you certainly sounded as though it were upsetting—you seem mighty gay and excited!"

"I am gay and excited!" said Susan. "Why shouldn't I be?"

"Oh, I didn't mean any criticism," said Roy. "I like you as you are now."

"From now on, Miss Typical Farmer's Daughter is going to—to—have herself a time!" said Susan. "Now, to the post office!"

When the check had been mailed, Susan drew a deep sigh of relief.

"Sweet child, I think," said Roy, "planning to spend it all on your aunt's farm."

"Maybe I'm heaping coals of fire on her head, or something like that," laughed Susan. "But let's forget the farm now, and go have a look at that gown you told me about."

She's only made sketches, so far," said Roy. "But we'll be able to get a good idea what the completed frock will look like."

And he was right.

They did get an idea, since the sketch was colored, and Patricia described it in glowing and enthusiastic tones.

"The silver is for Park avenue," she said, "and the lovely shade of green is for the farm! Get it?"

"Yes," said Susan. "But—but— isn't it a little low in the back?"

"The low back is for Park avenue," Patricia replied, "and the long, full skirt is for the farm." She looked from Susan to Roy, and back again. "You like it, don't you?"

"I do," said Roy. "I think it's a beauty."

"I like it, too," said Susan. "Only I was just wondering if—if folk wouldn't think the typical farmer's daughter had gone a little too far."

She looked at the other two, remembering an evening gown she had once worn to a college dance, a gown that had no back at all. "I— I wouldn't want to give folk the wrong idea, you know. Especially the folk down home who are so proud of my winning the prize."

"This gown," said Patricia, "will make you, not break you. Am I right, Mr. Leonard?"

"You are," said Roy.

Susan smiled at him. Very well, then, I'll love wearing it," she said. "If Mr. Leonard approves, then the Dainty Diana Dairies will approve. When did you say I could get it?"

"It will be delivered late tomorrow afternoon," said Patricia. "I want you to wear it at the opening of Grace George's revival of 'Kind Lady.' And don't forget to drop a hint now and then as to where it comes from. That's all the pay I want—just a bit of advertising."

"Goodness me!" said Susan. "You mean I'm not to pay you any money for it?"

"That's exactly what I mean," said Patricia. "I want the public to see the gown, and you to speak a word for it. That's all that will be necessary. Once the public knows that Patricia Potelli was inspired by Miss Typical Farmer's Daughter, that same public will come to investigate, and buy—I hope."

"That's swell of you, Miss Potelli," Roy said. "I'll personally see that you get some publicity out of it."

"Thanks!" said Patricia. Then to Susan: "Come on back now and have some measurements taken."

"I'll sit here and have a smoke," said Roy. "Don't take too long. Remember we've got a date with a Dainty Diana Dairies cow!"

It didn't take very long for Susan's measurements to be taken, and presently they, she and Roy, were on their way over to the city headquarters of Dainty Diana Dairies, a place where a number of cows were kept for exhibition and advertising purposes.

Already a crowd had gathered outside the huge plate glass windows that looked in upon a spot less interior.

Susan gasped.

"Goodness me!" she cried. "Do I have to milk a cow before all those people!"

"Yes," said Roy. "But just pretend they aren't there. Just pretend you're milking Emeralds in the barn back home."

"All right," said Susan. "I'll try. Which cow am I supposed to milk?"

"That one they're bringing toward the front of the window," said Roy. "She's a beauty, isn't she?"

"She is!" said Susan. Then, getting a closer look, "I'm not so sure, though, that I like that expression in her eye."

Roy laughed.

"Her name's Ella," he said, "and she's gentle as a lamb. Not even a recent trip with a theatrical company has injured or harmed her sweet disposition."

"You mean she has been on the stage?"

"Yes," said Roy. "In a play where a cow was needed for one short scene. They say Ella stole the play from the leading lady, and the leading lady hasn't spoken to her since."

"Idiot!" said Susan.

Dad says he isn't so worried this year about the Christmas bills. This was a puzzle until someone noticed there are five paydays in January.

THE MIKADO, the Tokyo wireless reports, has told his defunct imperial ancestors the latest Japanese communiques on the war situation. In Japan, it seems, even an ancestor, no matter how long dead is not immune to Japanese propaganda.

The United States army, we read, is conducting research in cold-weather clothing. Looks like we plan to chase those Japs clear to the North Pole.

It probably never has occurred to those Tokio war lords that the Rising Sun and the Setting Sun are just alike.

The man at the next desk says the Japs from now on won't have any time to try saving their face. They'll be too busy trying to save their race.

The Japs are reported as having asked Italy for aid. Gosh, don't they read their own newspapers.

As far as the enemy is concerned, we're all in favor of Uncle Sam doing his Christmas bopping early—and often.

Those buck-toothed Nipponeese won't be so proud of their oversized eating tools when they realize they've bitten off far more than they can chew.

Margold, the herb, was originally grown in Asia and southern Europe, and reputed to be a healing herb of amazing power. During the middle ages a syrup of margold petals was used for many ailments. Today its soothing properties are infused into creams, lotions and mild astringents.

WAR'S EXPENSE 33 BILLIONS TO BRITISH EMPIRE

Nearly Twelve Million Pounds Being Used
Each Day

INCREASE IS EXPECTED

Strife In Far East Will Send Total Cost To Higher Figure

LONDON, Dec. 16.—British authorities announced today that total British war expenditures to date amount to 8,300,000,000 pounds sterling.

At the official rate of $4 to the pound, this sum would equal $33,200,000,000.

At present, authorities said, Britain is spending nearly 11,750,000 pounds sterling for war purposes daily.

Of this amount 9,000,000 pounds are for the fighting services and the remainder for miscellaneous war services.

Three thousand million pounds already have been voted in supplementary credits by Parliament this year and only about 205,000,000 pounds were left by December 13.

A further 1,000,000,000 pounds to be voted by Parliament is expected to suffice until about the end of the financial year, but authorities said the Far Eastern situation makes exact prophecy difficult. They added war expenditures must be expected to increase continually.

War service expenditures for the current year will approximate 4,000,000,000 pounds sterling, including about 300,000,000 pounds spent in the United States outside of the lease-lend agreement.

FARM MACHINERY VITAL IN DRIVE FOR MORE FOOD

Farmers who are experiencing any difficulty in obtaining parts or materials as they ready their farm machinery or equipment for the 1942 "Food for Freedom" drive, should report this fact immediately to the County USDA Defense Board.

Farmers were asked recently to repair all their farm machinery as soon as possible to aid in the Defense Program, since the sharp reduction in the manufacture of new farm machinery and equipment for 1942 puts more emphasis on the care and repair of existing machinery.

Chairman John G. Boggs assured local farmers that the Defense Board would attempt to help the farmer or the dealer obtain the needed article for repair. Some local or temporary shortages may develop because of the unusual demand for certain replacement parts, but manufacturers will be able to obtain sufficient metals to produce needed parts.

Farmers can avoid serious delays by placing orders for repair parts now, Chairman Boggs said.

"If many farmers put off ordering repair parts, some will have to go without them, and valuable crops may be lost as a result," he warned.

COUNCIL TO MEET FOR REGULAR CONFERENCE

No new business is scheduled to come before Council at the regular meeting Wednesday evening.

Ordinance suspending street lighting in Circleville becomes effective Saturday, although officials of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company have assured the Council that the street lights will not be turned out until the light company has been notified by Council to do so.

Councilmen have agreed to keep the street lights turned on until after the holidays. Their move to suspend street lighting in the city was taken as a part of a program to cut city expenses.

STORY OF BRAVERY REVEALED BY KNOX

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—The bulk of America's Pacific Fleet was reported by Secretary of the Navy Knox to be knifing tropic waters today in search of Japanese warships—substantial proof that Nippon's blitzkrieg smash at Pearl Harbor constituted a strategic defeat because it failed to destroy Uncle Sam's western armada.

In a dramatic report revealing a story of American heroism and courage unsurpassed in the annals of naval warfare, Knox announced that the Army and Navy lost men, ships and airplanes. But he insisted that Japan had failed to deal the Navy a knockout blow.

"The essential fact is that the Japanese purpose was to knock out the United States before the war began," Knox said. "In this purpose the Japanese failed." ...

Knox reported that American Army and Navy forces were not "on the alert" that fatal Sunday morning of December 7, but he declined to place blame for possible "dereliction of duty" pending a formal inquiry by a board to be named by President Roosevelt.

The secretary listed American naval losses as 2,729 officers and men killed, 656 wounded; ships sunk—battleship, Arizona; target ship, Utah; destroyers Cassin, Downes and Shaw, and the mine-layer, Oglala. He said Japanese losses in the attack totaled 41 planes and three submarines, one of the latter captured.

2,897 Lives Lost
The number of American armed personnel killed in the Sunday attack was brought to 2,897 and those wounded to 879 when the War Department estimated that 168 soldiers were killed, 223 wounded and 26 are missing on Oahu, Hawaii.

"The entire balance of the Pacific fleet with its aircraft carriers, its heavy cruisers, its light cruisers, its destroyers and submarines are uninjured and are all at sea seeking contact with the enemy," Knox added.

During his personal inspection tour of Hawaii, Knox said he heard so many tales of heroism about American fighting men that he declined to reveal any names for the time being, in fairness to the entire force, which fought back while Pearl Harbor was an inferno of blazing ships and flaming oil.

Despite the initial defeat, Knox said morale of the men there remains high. He said the phrase he heard most often was:

"We hope the (one profane word censored) come back."
The real story of Pearl Harbor is not one of individual heroism, although there were many such cases," Knox reported. "It lies in the splendid manner in which all hands did their job as long as they were able, not only under fire, but while fighting flames afterwards and immediately starting salvage work and reorganization."

Guns of the fleet went into action less than four minutes after the first alarm sounded, the secretary said. In those first minutes, a young recruit seaman manned a machine gun single-handed "and blasted an attacking torpedo plane as it leveled against his ship."

Captain Heroic
The dying captain of a battleship displayed the outstanding individual heroism of the day," Knox continued. "As he emerged from the conning tower to the bridge, the better to fight his ship, his stomach was laid completely open by a sharpnel burst. He fell to the deck.

"Refusing to be carried to safety, he continued to direct the action. When the bridge became a blazing inferno, two officers attempted to remove him. But he ordered them to abandon him and save themselves. The latter found themselves blocked by flames. Only the heroic efforts of a third officer enabled them to escape. He climbed through the fire to a higher level, from which he passed one line to an adjoining battleship, and another to his trapped shipmates. By this frail means they made their way to safety."

The list of heroic incidents appeared endless, Knox said. One bluejacket manned a five-inch anti-aircraft gun alone after his 10 battery mates had been shot down by a strafing attack. Another picked up a machine gun without a mount and "shot the weapon from his arm, staggering under the concussion of the rapid fire."

"To the unsung heroes of the harbor auxiliaries must go much of the credit for helping to stem the onslaught," the secretary said. "Even the lowly garbage lighters shared the grim task. One came alongside a blazing ship which threatened momentarily to explode. Calmly the yardcraft's commander led firefighting both aboard the warship and on the surface of the harbor. He kept his tiny vessel beside the larger one for 24 hours."

Joined Other Crews
Knox explained that many seamen were wearing only underwear when they were thrown into oil-flaming waters as their ships capsized and sank. Instead of swimming to the safety of the nearby shore, he said they swam to other vessels and joined gun crews.

"Without a doubt the whole spectacle was the greatest spontaneous exhibition of cooperation, determination and courage that the American Navy has been called on to make," Knox concluded. "The crew of one ship followed it around on its outside as it capsized, firing their guns until they were under water. Those same men stood on the dock and cheered as one of the more fortunate ships cleared the harbor and passed by, enroute after the Japanese."

"Of all the accounts submitted on that memorable day, the record shows a continual demonstration of courage, bravery and fearlessness of which the American nation may well be proud."

ARMY AIR CORPS CITES NEED FOR 3,200 ENROLLEES

FORT HAYES, O., Dec. 16.—An additional "Keep 'Em Flying" requisition calling for 3,200 more men to be enlisted by the U. S. Army Air Corps ground units from Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia was announced today by Col. E. P. Pierson, Fifth Corps Area Recruiting Officer. Age limits are 18 to 35 and enlistments will be for duration of the war plus six months. Recruits will be sent to Biloxi, Miss. to train for special duty such as cooks, mechanics, radio operators and photographers on the ground, it was said.

There has been another additional call by the War Department for young men to enlist immediately for service in the U. S. Army for assignment to Cavalry, Infantry, Field Artillery, Coast Artillery Corps, Signal Corps, Engineers, Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance Department, Chemical Warfare Service, Armored Force Units and the Medical Department.

Also an urgent call has been made for both amateur and commercial radio operators for the Signal Corps. Amateur or commercial operators' licenses will be accepted as evidence of proficiency. If no license is available, the applicant will be trade tested.

Some 550 auto mechanics who are not now employed in vital defense industries are needed. These men will be enlisted for the Air Corps ground units.

Army recruiting officers are being kept open evenings to accommodate applicants for enlistment. Further details may be obtained at all Army Recruiting Stations.

THORNTON LEE'S GREAT HILL JOB MARKS SEASON

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — Take your hats off, boys, to a quartet of ball players who made the headlines all summer — the outstanding American League pitchers of 1941. Take a bow, Thornton Lee of the White Sox; Bobbie Lee of Cleveland; Vernon (Lefty) Gomez of the World's champion Yankees and his side-kick (or should that be "right arm"?) Johnny (the Fireman) Murphy.

Lee, one of Manager Jimmy Dykes' iron men, won 22 and lost 11 for a .667 average, to shade Feller. Bobbie won 25 and lost 13 for a .658 percentage.

It was Gomez, however, who pulled the biggest surprise of the year. Called "completely through" at the end of the 1940 season during which he won only 3 games and lost as many, the good-natured southpaw came back with added fight and stuff last season and won 15 and lost 5 for a mark of .750—the top percentage in the league.

While it is true that Gomez had to be helped in the late innings of 15 of the 23 games he started by Murphy, he averaged close to seven innings of pitching per game. Murphy, as usual, topped the relief pitchers by going in as a "saver" no less than 31 times during the year.

A peculiar thing about Lee's record is that he was a Cleveland castoff and the Tribe surely could have used his 22 wins last season. In addition to his excellent record, Lee was the top pitcher also in the earned run average column—the truest test of a pitcher.

SANTA ANITA, MEADOWS RACE EVENTS CANCELLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16 — The dogs of war took another big bite out of California's sports picture today, with cancellation of the Santa Anita and Bay Meadows horse racing meets.

Following up his general pronouncement that gatherings of 10,000 or more persons are highly inadvisable for the present on the Pacific Coast, Lt. Gen. John L. De Witt, west coast military commander, asked Gov. Culbert L. Olson to cancel the meets. Gov. Olson immediately transmitted an order to this effect to Chairman Jerry Giesler of the State Horse Racing Commission.

The rich Santa Anita meet, highlighted by the world's richest race, the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap which was carded for March 7, was due to begin December 31. Bay Meadows was to open late in March, two weeks after Santa Anita shuttered.

Business, Music Comprise Monday Club's Program

Donations Listed For Various Projects

Mrs. Tom Renick, president of the Monday Club, opened the regular meeting Monday in the Library Trustees' room, by reading the proclamation of Franklin D. Roosevelt, naming December 15, 1941, as 'Bill of Rights Day' in celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of the American Bill of Rights. At the business meeting of the club preceding the program, the members voted to make contributions to the Benevolent Association, the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and to double their annual donation to the Red Cross.

The club room was beautifully decorated for the meeting with Christmas candles and boughs of holly.

Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey's paper depicting "Christmas in Colonial America" was a study of an early Christmas as celebrated on a Chesapeake Bay plantation and a contrast of it with the Christmas of the Puritans, which was strictly a religious celebration in which games or any other gayety was forbidden by law. She discussed the plantation celebration in all its phases when open house was kept from December 24 to Twelfth Night for family, friends and slaves. Mrs. Kelsey also brought out the fact that it was the Dutch and the Germans who first made Christmas pre-eminently a children's day and who introduced the figure of the good St. Nicholas. She reminded the group also that all Christmas days had not been happy ones and reviewed some historical events connected with the day. In conclusion she said, "even in Christmas 1941, our hearts can still feel the peace we bring about if we search for it and in searching find it in the things that abide."

For the first time this year, the Monday Club chorus was presented by the Music Department of the club. The Nutcracker suite of Tchaikovsky arranged for women's voices by Franz Bornestein was heard under the direction of Mrs. James Moffitt. Miss Abbe Mills Clarke was accompanist.

Mrs. Renick read an original poem based on the nutcracker legend and written in the rhythm of "The Night Before Christmas" to introduce each number of the suite. The program was in charge of Mrs. G. D. Phillips, in the absence of Mrs. Pearl Marshall, chairman, detained by illness.

Miss Margaret Rooney, chairman of The Monday Club Student Aid Fund, reported the work of her committee during the business hour. In the absence of Mrs. E. L. Crist, chairman of the committee for the sale of articles made by the Blind, Mrs. William Gray reported that $58 had been forwarded to the Blind Commission following the recent sale.

Sorosis Club
The Sorosis Club of Williamsport had its Christmas meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. H. W. Campbell with 31 members present for the occasion. The guests included Mrs. Ronald Law of Amanda, who was the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Charles Dickey, Greenfield, and Mrs. Cora Reynard of Columbus. Mrs. Adrian McVey, secretary, and Mrs. Campbell, treasurer, reported during the business hour in charge of Mrs. William Dunlap.

The club decided to give $10 to the war relief fund of the Red Cross.

Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., program leader, presented Mrs. Law, who was born in Hungary and lived there until she was six years old. Mrs. Law, in native dress, told of the life of that country, especially in regard to the celebration of Christmas. She told of the former pleasant life of the middle class of Hungary, discussed the homes and told of the artistic ability of the children of the land. She also sang a Hungarian song.

Following Mrs. Law's interesting talk, Mrs. Campbell entertained the group at a Christmas tea. The tea table in the dining room was centered with a silver Yule log surrounded with evergreens, and decorated with a large green cellophane bow and red candles. Christmas candles and Yule decorations made the home festive for the party.

The delightful refreshments were served by the hospitality committee including Mrs. Lee Luellen, Mrs. Harry McGhee, Mrs. William Radcliff and Mrs. Dunlap, who presided at the table. An exchange of Christmas gifts was in keeping with the theme of the affair.

Mrs. W. D. Heiskell will entertain the group January 19.

Mr. Pontius Honored
Harold Pontius of Pickaway Township was honored at a surprise family dinner at his home, the recent affair marking his birthday anniversary. He was remembered with many useful gifts. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pontius and sons, Bobby,

About 50 members and guests participated in the holiday contests and games. Gifts donated by the class for two needy families were displayed. Mrs. Warren Harmon headed the committee in charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Harold Clifton conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Dwight Steele had charge of the devotions.

A treasure hunt for the gifts exchanged by the members was enjoyed, the gifts being opened around the tree. Mrs. Marion, class teacher, and Mrs. Clifton, out-going president, were presented gifts from the class.

Christmas carols were sung by Tommy and Connie Mettler.

A Christmas carol contest was won by Miss Elizabeth Hilyard, and a Christmas game, by Mrs. Frank Bowling.

Each member and guest received a bright holiday nosegay as a favor when lunch was served.

Arrangements for the gay affair were in charge of Miss Ruth Stout, chairman. Mrs. George Lytle, Mrs. Melvin Mettler, Miss Peggy Parks and Mrs. Robert Bond.

senbrenner. Miss Mary Howard carrying home the traveling award. Mrs. G. G. Campbell, a guest for the evening, received a bride favor from the hostess.

Gifts were exchanged by club members during the social hour which was concluded with a seasonal lunch.

Legion's Auxiliary Aids Red Cross And Buys Defense Bond

A donation of $10 to the Red Cross and arrangements to purchase a $25 Defense Bond were highlights of the business meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Monday, in the Post Room, Memorial Hall. Mrs. William Heggie Sr., was in the chair for the meeting.

Mrs. Orin W. Dreisbach, welfare chairman, presented plans for the auxiliary to sponsor a Red Cross First Aid Class in connection with the program of civilian defense for the community. The class will be formed early in January and will have its meetings in Memorial Hall.

Mrs. James Cook, chairman, reported that arrangements were completed to provide 10 Christmas baskets for needy families of veterans. It was planned also to assist members of the legion in sacking candy for the Christmas treat for needy children of the community.

The meeting opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, the "Star-Spangled Banner" in union, prayer by Mrs. Orin W. Dreisbach and the preamble in union. Routine reports were received by the president during the business hour.

Holly and candles in the form of Christmas trees decorated the festive table where refreshments were served during the social hour, which was arranged as a Christmas party. Candy canes and song books were the holiday favors and all party appointments were in keeping with the season.

Mrs. Dreisbach and Mrs. James Stout were co-hostesses for the affair.

Means of Gathering Red Cross Relief Fund Aired

Committee Selected To Direct Effort Toward $8,500 Amount

TO MEET AGAIN FRIDAY

Fifty Volunteers Confer Monday Afternoon About Request

Pickaway County's Red Cross workers rallied Monday to pledge their support to a campaign which they hope can raise an $8,500 War Relief Fund.

Meeting in the Phi Beta Psi rooms of Masonic Temple, nearly 50 volunteer workers from Circleville and Pickaway County took preliminary steps to form a War Relief Fund drive in the community. A committee, whose duty will be to draft a plan of action, was appointed and the committee's recommendations will be made at another group meeting Friday at 3:30 p. m.

The committee, with Carl C. Leist as chairman, includes Frank Fischer, Mrs. Joseph Noecker, Judge Meeker Terwilliger, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Dan McClain and Tom Renick. The committee will meet Wednesday night to consider a campaign program.

At Monday's meeting, Chairman Leist pointed out that the present request for funds was the largest the county had received since the last war. He told his workers that district Red Cross officials had asked that the funds be raised immediately. The funds are to be used for relief of Americans only, 15 percent of the total amount solicited remaining in the county and the other 85 percent being sent to National Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Judge Terwilliger, who directed the local War Chest campaign during the first World War, spoke at the meeting, telling workers of the methods that were used formerly in raising funds.

Red Cross chapters all over the country are reporting they are receiving telephone and personal calls from persons having relatives on the west coast, due to the reports of threatened air raids and blackouts.

"Everywhere our Red Cross chapters are facing greatly increased expenditures for service to the public as well as to our armed forces due to the war emergency," National Chairman Norman H. Davis, said. "For this reason many telephoned and telegraphed their support to the War Relief Fund, as it will provide them also with funds to meet relief and public service contingencies growing out of the state of war."

WORK OF STATE AUDITOR TOPIC AT CLUB SESSION

O. P. Van Schoik, an executive from the office of State Auditor Joe T. Ferguson, addressed the Kiwanis Club Monday evening, touching on the various departments which come under the auditor's supervision. He spoke of the immense task of auditing the books of all state divisions and dwell at length on discussion of the sales tax and its distribution.

He said that sales tax money, when collection started, was earmarked for relief, schools and various local governments, but that under the present administration it was put into the general fund. He said that as a result many municipalities were suffering. He spoke also of the clamor being made for a more fair distribution of sales tax money.

Mr. Van Schoik substituted for his chief and brought with him Hugh McTeague, John Argenbright and Mark Armstrong, the latter of Circleville.

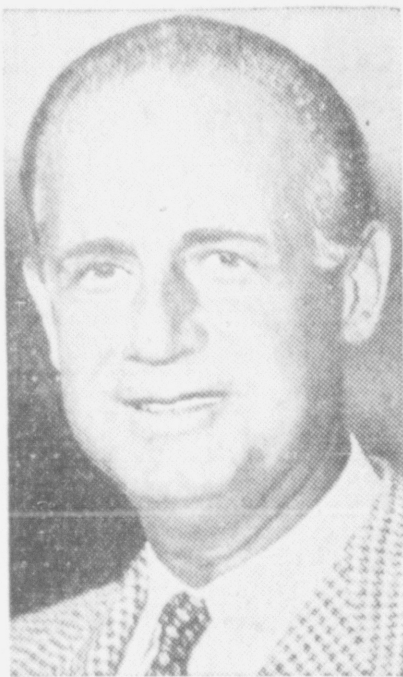

Following the meeting committee for 1942 were named by Herschel Hill, president-elect.

Next week the club will have its regular dinner meeting at 6:30 in Hanley's tearoom and then will go to Memorial Hall to take part in its Christmas program which is being put on in cooperation with Phi Beta Psi society.

CALL IS VOICED FOR TOMATOES IN NEXT SEASON

COLUMBUS, Dec. 16 — Although the 1942 program for production and processing of vegetable crops has not been finally settled, reports from Washington indicate there will be a call for one-fifth more canned tomatoes than the 1941 pack, one-third more peas, and a slight decrease in the pack of corn. Ohio farmers will be more interested in the demand for more tomatoes than in news about the other two crops.

Roy F. Hendrickson, director of marketing, U. S. Department of Agriculture, speaking at the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago, December 8, said, "In carrying out this program (on canning crops) we are determined to see that the interests of the growers of the canning vegetables we need are protected, and that they are accorded fair treatment. At the same time it is only reasonable that the canners also have certain assurances so that they too will be able to see their way clear in carrying their full share of the responsibility."

turn to the Senate to take up the war resolution. Finally, Barkley explained:

"Mr. President, we're sorry, but we'll have to go. Our colleagues are waiting in the Senate and we would like to join them."

"You can't fool me," grinned the President. "I know the reason you fellows are so anxious to get away. You want to get back to the Senate so you can beat the House in passing the war resolution."

The trio admitted this was the reason and rushed off.

NOTE: The act declaring war on Japan will go down in history as Senate Joint Resolution 116, since the Senate did act first. The House passed an identical resolution H. J. R. 254, but before the lengthy House roll-call was finished, a Senate clerk appeared with the adopted S. J. R. 116. Under parliamentary rules, this was substituted for the House bill and passed by unanimous consent.

Fairfield Official Comes Here Wednesday Eve For Address

William F. Yost, district Boy Scout Commissioner of Fairfield County, will be speaker at the annual Boy Scout banquet to be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. in Memorial Hall.

Mr. Yost is an engineer with the Anchor-Hocking Glass Corporation of Lancaster. He received most of his scout training in the east, coming to Lancaster from New Jersey.

The celebration, the first of its kind to be held in Circleville, will open with a potluck supper, followed by a program of special music and entertainment.

Demonstrations of scouting, including a performance by Cub Pack 13 of Kingston, will be included and group singing has been scheduled as a part of the program.

Each scout troop will be seated at its own table, and the troop having the best decorated table will receive special recognition.

UNIT WILL WORK FOR MEN SERVING IN NAVAL FORCE

Formation of a unit of the organization known as Bundles for Bluejackets, which will provide comforts and necessities for the men of the United States Navy and the American merchant marine, was announced Monday by Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, president of the Circleville branch of Bundles for Britain, Inc.

The Circleville chapter of Bundles for Bluejackets becomes a part of a nation-wide organization, distinct from Bundles for Britain, but working in cooperation with this American relief agency. Its efforts will be devoted solely to practical aid to American sailors. The organization recently was chartered under the laws of the State of New York.

For the present woolen knitted garments — turtle-neck pull-overs, sweaters, watch caps, scarfs and gloves — made in accordance with specifications furnished by the United States Navy Department, will be furnished by Bundles for Bluejackets. By authority of the Navy Department these garments will be accepted at Naval stations for the men aboard American ships and will become part of their regular equipment.

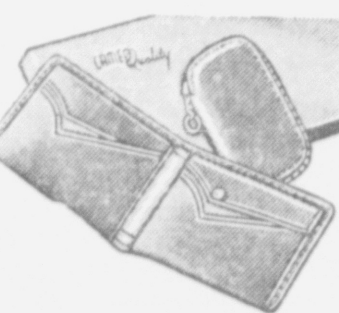

Mrs. Harold Grant has been designated as chairman of the chapter, which has just received formal authorization for its establishment from national headquarters of Bundles for Britain in New York City, the parent organization. She will serve as executive head of the branches of both organizations. Women throughout this area will be invited to enlist in the work of knitting for American seamen and to assist in other ways as the national program is developed.

FINAL AMATEUR SHOW TO BE WEDNESDAY EVE

Final amateur program, sponsored by the Circleville Kiwanis Club, will be held Wednesday evening at the Grand Theatre.

Schools to participate in the final event are Walnut Township, Circleville, Williamsport and Monroe Township. A school and an individual performer will be selected as winners.

Benevolent Association Fills Unique Position

The Circleville Benevolent Association fills a unique place in the life of the community. The city has various relief organizations, but the rules by which each one is governed make the giving of aid under certain conditions impossible. It is at this point that a distinct service is performed by the Benevolent Association.

One such case came recently into this category. A family of six, the children ranging in age from one to ten years, lived in two small rooms which were clean and orderly. The man had been employed at the canning factories during the summer, but was out of work for a number of weeks before he was placed on W.P.A. Two weeks later he was eligible for his first pay, but during all those intervening weeks no aid was available except two grocery orders from the County Relief Office. It is a rule that as soon as a man is on the W.P.A. no more orders are received from this source.

During this period of over four weeks the Benevolent Association was able, through the support of Circleville citizens, to tide the family over their difficulties. No other relief agency, no matter how benevolently disposed, was able to meet the situation.

The Circleville Benevolent Association fills in the gaps. This
